

THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI®

The 2022 Dunbar Lecture in Philosophy and Law

Law and Honor

Thursday, March 31st, 4:30-6:00pm

Student Union Ballroom

Event is free and open to the public

Kwame Anthony Appiah

Dr. Kwame Anthony Appiah is an American philosopher, novelist, and scholar of African and African-American studies, best known for his contributions to political philosophy, moral psychology, and the philosophy of culture. Named one of Foreign Policy's Top 100 public intellectuals and awarded a National Humanities Medal by The White House, Appiah currently teaches at NYU.

About the Dunbar Lectures: We often come across discussions of policy-related issues in law, and frequently hear about particular laws being passed by congress or considered by courts. But we rarely take the time to ask basic questions, such as “What is law?” Established in 1987 by Jack and Wylene Dunbar, the Dunbar Lectures in Philosophy and Law invites nationally renowned public intellectuals to the University of Mississippi campus to explore philosophical themes in law, and to stimulate creative and analytical thinking concerning the law’s role in society.

For further information, or if you require assistance, please contact Dr. Neil Manson (namanson@olemiss.edu or 662-915-7020).